DECEMBER 1987

First of all, the editorial staff and the staff at INFORMATION ENTERPRISES wishes all the members of the Club a very happy christmas and an even better New Year. We all look forward to your continued support in the new year.

BACK TO BUSINESS! The Club would like to remind you that Gift Vouchers are still available for christmas presents for that Special person. They are available in R5.00 and R10.00. INFORMATION ENTERPRISES is really excelling this festive season to bring you offers at even better prices than before. Do not miss this as these offers are never to be repeated! And that is the truth! Just look at the astounding prices offered for printers, computers, monitors, stationary and even games for the kids! The Club would very much like to improve its service to Club members. WE have reached an agreement with IE which is that they will make up any cable for any peripheral if you bring along the pin-outs for it and any other relevant details.

As from January the factory in Bophuthutswana will be open to the public. Further details on how to get there and telephone numbers will be published in the January Newsletter. But, remember for the time being all orders placed by post will be processed there and you will not have to pay GST to us, although the onus is on you the purchaser to declare the sale at your local Receiver of Revenue. When placing an order by post, please do not forget to include postage!

I have been criticized for not including enough articles in the Newsletter, well we have had a bit of a shortage of articles and would very much appreciate some articles from you the Club members. Next months there will be more articles. So come on and help make your newsletter more interesting!

INFORMATION ENTERPRISES has agreed to sponser the Club again for the next year, and therefore membership is still free! But, without your continued support and loyalty they will not be able to do so as one years expences for the Club amounts to just over R18 000.00!! So keep up the support or we will lose out!

IE's business hours for December will be the following:-

Mon - fri 8am to 7pm and open during lunch

Sat 8am to 6pm and open during lunch.

Ons het aspris die ure gekies sodat ons Plattelandse Klante ons kan bel wanneer die tariewe goedkooper is om hulle bestelings te plaas.

IE is inviting Club members to check out their prices last as they are sure to be the best. Care to take them up on that?

Get your friends to join the Club and you will receive a special lucky-dip prize for your efforts!

Well I certainly have gone overboard this time! Its just that so much has been happening and I seem to have so much to tell you.

Anyway thanks to our sponser IE

the contence of the newsletter will tell you more about the interesting things and happenings.

LOOK SHARP!

The aim of this game is to sharpen observational skills and visual memory. With two very different themes, and three games in each program, there is lots of fun and variety for the whole family. The first game, Memory, challenges the player to remember and then recreate farmyard scenes. Odd-one-out tests observation by presenting three sets of animals which seem to be the same - but are they? snap for one or two players, is an old favourite, this version challenges the player to be quick on the button. Are you? The last game is the ultimate challenge. It runs all three games one after the other, under test conditions. Space age scenes of rockets, space stations and aliens feature in three testing games where quickness of hand and eye ensure success!

REACTOR

Reactor is an arcade game combining all the ingredients of skill, dexterity and quick-thinking that make a good game great! You are at the control console of a large computerised nuclear reactor and have to control the reactions taking place. You have the advantage of being able to see these reactions through your leaded glass window to the core. A balance must be struck between low power levels which give a safe level of radiation, and high power levels which lead to dangerous levels of radiation but allow the operator to proceed to further stages of the game. Can you accept the challenge?

BUILDING A PRITTY JOYSTICK AND I'FACE

— MC GYVER

As so many times before, The ZX Mushroom Club made yet another breakthrough. In this issue we unveil the true identity of the man who impressed us the versatility of his pen knife. Yes sir, we now know that McGyver is not a Yank, he is a South African, also known as Leon Treurnich!!

In the first half of this article McTreurnich explains how you can hardware an "Interface 2" joystick port to your Spectrum 16/48K. The second half gives some ideas on producing your own homebrewed custom made joystick.

As most players of modern games will know, the Interface 2 simulates keys 6 through to 0 in the top half of your keyboard. The key positions are 6 = left, 7 = right, 8 = down, 9 = up and 0 = fire.

Instead of using an interface you can solder the wires from your joystick to the corresponding places

Instead of using an interface you can solder the wires from your joystick to the corresponding places on the motherboard. The most important safety measure to keep in mind is that all external wires and the joystick should be electrically and statically isolated, since a discharge into your Spectrum's input/output circuit could do serious damage.

Figure 1 shows to which lines you must connect your wires on the motherboard, as seen from the front and above when you open your computer. The soldering must however be done on the underside of the board. This way you can easily remove the wires and make no permanent changes. Line 4 on the 8-bit bus is the common ground to which the 5-bit lines, when connected, will trigger keys 6 - 0.

Only trial and error will determine to which lines of the joystick plug you should solder which wires, that is if you will be using a bought joystick, since generally the plug on such a joystick cannot be opened for inspection.

Be sure to keep the stripped ends of wire that you solder onto the board very short, so that there is no chance of it shorting with any other wire of soldering joint.

This concludes the detail of making a joystick "part". Here follows a description of how I built a joystick to fit the "part".

The parts consisted of an empty 18g Pritt-stick outer body, which was the control stick, the frame of a small 1/2 watt speaker from a small radio, an old flat pencil box, 8 screws, a few nails and one microswitch for the fire button. The Pritt holder was forced to fit onto the magnet at the back of the speaker.

(If your speaker has a different sized magnet, you can either stuff it with matches etc. or use something other than a Pritt-stick outer body.

The ground was connected to the speaker frame. Now small nails (figure 3: [1]) were positioned so that after a movement the frame will always return to the same position. Next the screws were turned in exactly above the circular ring of the frame as shown in figure 3, and in the positions as shown in figure 2. This way the stick will always engage with two screws at a time and go into 8 directions, which is all you need. Thus, 1+8, 2+3, 4+5, 6+7 should be used together in pairs as the 4 main directions.

When pressed diagonally the frame will connect with the corresponding screws that represents the net horizontal and vertical directions of the diagonal movement. The screws can be adjusted for different games to suit personal taste.

Now you can beat Decathlon and similar games without beating your brittle membrane.

SUPERQBOARD WITH MOUSE

For the Sinclair QL this must be the ultimate peripheral. On one neat plug in unit SANDY technical innovation has packed full high speed memory expansion to 640 KByte multi-standard disk interface parallel printer port, full mouse controlled environment, dynamic RAM disks, QRAM and SuperToolKit II, CADPAK, and much more.

SUPERQBOARD - The full SUPERQBOARD facilities are enhanced by the addition of up to eight fully dynamic RAM disks (which can also be formatted to fixed capacities) with nine-second microdrive bulk loading facility. The POINTER system for mouse management is built into the on board ROM. The board can be supplied with no extra memory for users with internal or thru-con expansions, or with the full 512 KByte extra RAM which runs in no-wait-state mode at very fast access speeds.

SYSTEM DISK/CARTIDGE - A SYSTEM disk contains QRAM, CADPAK, real window manager and utility files.

MOUSE - High quality mouse has two buttons for SELECT and DO. The acceleration scale can be changed using the OPTIONS menu and different settings saved for future use.

QRAM - This amazing front end manager from QJUMP is specially integrated into the SANDY SUPERMOUSE system. It provides real windows, pull-down menus, file control, multi-tasking job management, hotkey control for instant job sweeping, full print operation support, screen and window dumping and so very much more! For ease of use and speed of operation there is no other system to match QRAM.

CADPAK - From DATALINK SYSTEMS this painting program demonstrates the superb Mouse control facilities with pull-down menus and icon selections. Specially written to use the POINTER routines to the full it gives the user the real control which only SuperMouse can provide.

UTILITIES - Support utilities include GRABBER which prevents your Pasion programs from grabbing all the free memory and leaving no room for other jobs to multi-task. GUARDIAN protects real job windows from being overwritten by stray parts of other job windows. UNLOCK to remove the GUARDIAN protection from a window. KEYPOINT which translates mouse control calls into keypresses thus enabling the mouse to be used in programs which were not written to use the POINTER facilities.

WMAN - The Window Manager and Pointer interfacing routines are accessible to the programmer and a technical manual is available to cover this subject.

QL owners, just look what is blowing in! With all these fantastic add-ons coming in for the QL, the one who says that the QL is dying out is very much mistaken! I.E. is doing its best to keep up with the overseas market and to keep abreast with new technology. You most certainly can not say that we are neglecting you! Both the CP/Mulator and the new SuperQboard with the mouse will soon be coming into stock.

CP/MULATOR FOR THE QL

QDOS is a superb multi-tasking operating system unrivalled in home or business micro-computers but due to the relatively low number of QL's in circulation software support is thin. Giving access to the software from another operating system instantly improves this state of affairs.

SANDY PRESENTS CP/MULATOR - a complete CP/M emulator to open the vast CP/M software library to QL users. Consisting of a plug in ROM cartridge and system disk or microdrive your QL instantly becomes a CP/M machine and runs in 128K or expanded machines. Usual prompts, screen layout and responses of a CP/M machine are displayed but using the input line editor of the QL - so CTRL/CURSOR KEYS have their normal QL functions.

ROM CARTIDGE - this emulates a Z-80 microprocessor in software and is used to obtain the fastest execution speed as your QL accesses an external ROM much faster than its own memory. When using a Debug program to print out the register contents a full Z-80 set of registers is displayed even though no Z-80 is present!

SYSTEM DISK - the disk contains the main emulator, and a highly sophisticated disk format conversion program which is menu driven and enables almost any CP/M format disk to be converted into a QDOS disk. The most common formats are direct menu options but unknown formats can be analysed by the program which tries out various combinations of track formats, sector skew factors, directory reserved sectors and so on.

COMMAND INTERPRETER - all input commands are interpreted into either Z-80 or 8080 instructions before being sent to the main emulator; usual CP/M wild card characters are fully supported.

SCREEN DRIVER - many CP/M programs are written to operate with a particular terminal which provides specific features. These features are supported by the integral screen driver.

KEYBOARD DRIVER - CP/M terminals have specific codes for combinations of keypresses or function keys. The keyboard driver provides these translations to support on-screen editing in programs such as Wordstar and Turbo Pascal.

INSTALLATION - the system disk contains an install program to select the default options for your CP/M system and a sample BOOT program written in SuperBasic. CP/Mulator runs as a job under QDOS and can be switched in and out of like any QDOS job.

MANUAL - a comprehensive and very clear manual explains how everything works and operation is exceptionally straightforward COMPATIBILITY - CP/Mulator will run almost any CP/M program which is written to obey the rules of CP/M under any except the concurrent versions. The CP/M users group has a huge library of public domain software available in compatible formats at a little more than transcription cost and you should definitely join up.

THE SPECTRUM PLUS 3 REVISITED

by Chad Mc Alister

Unfortunately I have still not had the opportunity to try out one of these machines for myself as yet, however I have obtained a little more information from magazines which I have read of late. By far the most important development is the new price for the PLUS THREE which is now a very reasonable £199 which should equate to approximately R 800 which will make it by far the cheapest computer with disc drive. The price of the discs have also been reduced to £2.99 which will be approximately R 12 which is cheaper than the price of a microdrive cartridge. These announcements were made by ALLAN SUGAR at the recently held ICW COMPUTER SHOW.

Further developments are that some good utilities are already available for the PLUS THREE these are MASTERFILE PLUS 3 and needless to say TASWORD PLUS THREE. I will give what detail I have on these packages a little later. Another development is that ROMANTIC ROBOT have made a multiface for the PLUS THREE which they have chosen to call MULTIFACE 3, which they claim will be able to put cassette based programs on to the built in disc drive. I will also report on this later on.

I must admit that with these developments I am a lot more confident of the potential of the PLUS THREE. I am sure that the support that was lacking when it was released at £259 will now be forthcoming as sales are now most certainly going to rocket.

Another positive aspect of the PLUS THREE is the fact that one no longer needs special printer interfaces nor do you need special control codes, simply plug in your standard printer and use the FORMAT command as necessary. The default mode is for tokens to be fully expanded - SINCLAIR keywords are printed in full and embedded colour codes which might act as printer control codes are screened out. The 64K RAMDISC, as is also available on the PLUS TWO is also an excellent feature.

MASTERFILE PLUS 3

The claims of the new MASTERFILE are that it gives immense power, speed and flexibility compared with the original, yet it is easier to use. They claim that one will rarely need to refer to the 62 page manual. Features which have been added to those found on the original MASTERFILE are MERGE, FIELD CALCULATION, IMPORT, EXPORT, KEYED FILES, FIELD EDIT, TABLE LOOK-UP, DATE STAMP, AND VISUAL 96 COLUMN SCREEN/FORMS DESIGN. All in all this certainly appears to be an excellent filing system.

TASWORD PLUS THREE

There is not a lot of detail given about this program in their latest advert, but if TASWORD THREE (the program I use) is anything to go by then this can only be excellent.

MULTIFACE 3

ROMANTIC ROBOT have released an interface to transfer cassette based software to the PLUS THREE built in disc. They have aptly named it MULTIFACE 3. As was the case with MULTIFACE 128 it lacks the Kempston joystick port. There are two versions available, one without a through port at 44.95 and one with a through port at 49.95. If we were buying I would opt for the one with the through port.

Features of the MULTIFACE 3 are:-

- (1) It allows you to use the +3 disc from basic which you cannot normally do.
- (2) It compresses files to save on disc space
- (3) It allows the compression feature to be switched off to enable exact copies of memory to be made.
- (4) It enables you to examine ALL memory locations of the +3
- (5) It has all the print features of MULTIPRINT which are, freeze button - LIST program, COPY screens, LPRINT, fully programmable - line feed - width - spacing - margins and various COPY types (text, hi res, shaded etc).
- (6) It allows you to erase files
- (7) It also has its own built in toolkit
- (8) It is extremely user friendly

If can't FORMAT a disc and programs saved using it will not load without it being resident.

HOW TO ORDER FROM I.E.

ARE YOU ONE OF THE LITTLEIES THAT IS NOT QUITE SURE HOW YOU SHOULD GO ABOUT THINGS WHEN ORDERING?

Here's what to do.

Fill in the order form which is to found on the back of the Newsletter, or a reasonable facsimile.

When filling in your order, please do not forget to fill in all details such as POSTAGE AND GST. Now add the whole lot together in a very ordinary addition sum, and include payment for the whole Grand Total. Payment can be made in POSTAL ORDERS OR WITH CHEQUES which are to be made out to INFORMATION ENTERPRISES.

We will also gladly send your goods POST OFFICE CASH ON DELIVERY. Please note that this must be stipulated either on your order, or you can order COD Telephonically. NO COD ORDER CAN BE CANCELLED ONCE PLACED. Also please note that there is a R2.40 Post Office charge for the service and the Post Office also charges a 1% levy on the Grand Total once the R2.40 has been added. If you order COD you will have to pay these charges. Another condition for if you order your goods COD is that should you refuse the goods when they arrive, then you will have to pay the cost involved for the postage to and from your Post Office back to our Post Office.

P.S. THIS IS FOR BIGGIES AND OTHERS WHO ARE NOT SURE HOW TO ORDER.
